Second rotation continued where first rotation left off. I moved to the front serving line in the cafeteria. I worked with customers taking their orders and serving them. It was fun to work in this area and experience new challenges. This helped me to learn and grow my kitchen skills.

Justin

In Laundry, I have learned how to fold clothes and bed-sheets. I can also program and operate an automated folding machine. Should I decide to pursue laundry as a career, these skills will be important. The sorting and counting skills will help me in many other types of jobs.

Phillip

During my second rotation in Materials Management the skills I have obtained are the operation of the cardboard compactor, following a pick order list, facing materials on shelves, transporting supplies, and working independently. These skills will be useful for future employment as a stocking clerk. My mentor has provided a lot of helpful instructions and support during my rotation.

Michael

My second rotation is Day Surgery. I m learning how to clean and make beds and clean rooms. I also know how to stock supplies when needed. When I get a job, I can perform these skills since I have been doing them independently at the hospital. Soon I will be looking for a job that needs the skills I have gained from both first and second rotation.

Gracie

As my second rotation comes to a close I find that I've learned many essential work skills. Those skills include many forms of file organization, such as alphabetical by first and last, chronological, and numerical. In addition I've also learned how to chart collected survey data using spreadsheet software. Finally I've had much hands on experience, working with the public, and conducting surveys.
